"A 'Visit to a Hospital'"

Last Monday, I went to the hospital to see a friend who was suffering from the 'chikungunya'. As I entered the building I saw some people waiting to be registered while the others standing in queues in the front of the doctor's room. I went past them, took the stairs and leading to the first floor. There I saw a surgical ward with patients lying on their bed with nurse attending some of them. Then came the medical ward and I saw my friend lying on the bed. He gave me a faint smile and said that he was getting better and will have to stay there some more days. I stayed with him about half an hour and took my leave to promising a visit again.
