Recently, the Protected Planet Report 2024 was launched at COP16.

Key Point

- ❖ This report is launched by UN Environment Programme World Conservation Monitoring Centre (UNEP-WCMC) and the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN)
- ❖ Key Findings of the Protected Planet Report 2024

- Currently, 17.6% of land and 8.4% of marine areas are protected. To achieve the 30x30 target by 2030, substantial acceleration and quality improvements in protected areas are needed.
- Since 2020, an additional 629,000 km² of land and 1.77 million km² of marine areas have been protected. However, 12.4% more land and 21.6% more marine areas must still be secured.
- While 68% of Key Biodiversity Areas (KBAs) are protected, 32% remain unprotected. Efforts are needed to cover critical ecosystems and ensure ecological representation.
- Only 8.52% of land is both protected and ecologically connected, showing a gap in the connectivity essential for biodiversity conservation.
