Direction (1 - 6) Read the following passage and answer the given questions.
Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow:

Everyone's first job is special. There are a couple of reasons for this: experience is burned in one's memory, it gives you the practice needed to fulfil other positions, and it teaches you about the value of money. Of course we do jobs around the house when we are young, like cleaning dishes, vaccuming, and doing laundry, but working for others for money gives off a different feeling.

When I was about sixteen yeas old, I wanted to buy albums of my favourite bands, but I did not have any money. My parents were not the type of people to give money to me out of nowhere, or even for work done at home. I had to find work in order to purchase the music I wanted.

So, I enquired as to who could give me work around town. I lived in the town of Wood Way, which was relatively small, with no street lights, and hardly any population. I went to the oldest person I knew in my neighbourhood, Mrs. Hudson. She was over eighty years old, and could not tend her garden anymore. She had flowers, a grass lawn, and some tomato plants. I knocked on her door, building up enough courage to ask her for work. She answered that indeed she needed help in her garden. She did not discuss the amount of money I would get for the work.

The first job supplies you with the value of money, as sweat turned into cash is something no one can take away from you.

Direction (7 - 12) Read the following passage and answer the given questions.
Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow:

The spiritual training of the boys was a much more difficult matter than their physical and mental training. I relied little on religious books for the training of the spirit. Of course, I believed that every student should be acquainted with the elements of his own religion and have a general knowledge of his own scriptures and therefore I provided for such knowledge as best I could. But that, to my mind, was part of the intellectual training. Long before I undertook the education of the youngsters of Tolstoy Farm, I had realized that the training of the spirit was a thing by itself. To develop the spirit is to build character and to enable one to work towards the knowledge of God and self-realization. And I held that this was an essential part of the training of the young, and that all training without culture of the spirit was of no use and might be even harmful.

I am familiar with the superstition that self-realization is possible only in the fourth stage of life, i.e., sannyasa (renunciation). But it is matter of common knowledge that those who defer preparation for this invaluable experience until the last stage of life attain not self-realization but old age amounting to a second and pitiable childhood, living as a burden on this earth. I have a full recollection that I held these views even whilst I was teaching though I might not then have expressed them in identical language.

(A) To build character and to enable one to work towards a knowledge of God and self-realization.
(B) Memorising and reciting hymns.
(C) Being acquainted with the latest version of T-20 cricket.
(D) Studying only the religious books.

Q10 Self-realisation is possible
(A) At old age
(B) After retirement only
(C) While preparing the youth
(D) At the fourth stage of life

Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow:

When plastic waste is burnt, a complex weave of toxic chemicals is released. Breaking down Poly Vinyl Chloride, (PVC) is used for packaging, toys and coating electrical wires. It produces dioxin, an organ chlorine which belongs to the family of Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPS). A recent Dioxin Assessment Report brought out by the United States Environment Protection Agency (USEPA) says the risk of getting cancer from dioxin is ten times higher than reported by the agency in 1994. Yet the Delhi government is giving the green signal to a gasification project which will convert garbage into energy without removing plastic waste. Former minister, the promoter of this project, says this is not necessary. He claims no air pollution will be caused and that the ash produced can be used as manure. An earlier waste-to-energy project set-up in Timarpur failed. The new one, built with Australian assistance, will cost 200 crore. It will generate 25 megawatts of power and gobble 1,000 tonnes of garbage every day. "Technologies like gasification are a form of incineration," says the central coordinator of this Project. Incineration merely transfers hazardous waste from solid form to air, water and ash. Toxins produced during incineration include acidic gases, heavy metals as well as dioxins and furans. "The 'manure' will be hazardous and a problem to dispose."
